Enrico Varella, Managing Director of Enrico Varella & Associates, is an industrial psychologist specialising in values-based learning for large-scale, organisational change processes. He works with staff at all levels in corporations to instill corporate core values through experiential-based activities and cognitive exercises. He is certified in the Values Grid™ and helps bridge personal values with corporate values in corporate value creation. He is deeply passionate about learning and teaching, especially in his forte areas of corporate leadership, team dynamics and influence.

He utilises a wide repertoire of skills and disciplines in his work, including applied psychology, education, leadership, NLP™, EOM™, PIPS™, and Solutions Focused Coaching. He holds a Bachelor of Science in Applied Psychology, and a Master of Education (Leadership & Management).

Enrico has held various executive positions in sales, human resource development, journalism, fitness and recreation, and hospitality. He has worked with multinational corporations, the civil service and statutory boards. He speaks six languages, and has made presentations and delivered corporate training programmes in 18 countries including SE Asia, China, Japan, India, and the former-USSR.

He has appeared on national radio and press, and is much sought after for public speaking engagements and conferences. He was the only featured local magician to appear on the highly publicised AXN series, Mondo Magic Singapore. Enrico is also a published author, playwright, editor and volunteer, as well as an active sportsman who races in Ironman Triathlons and marathons.
